The end of Bloomsburg State College, not with a whimper, but with celebration.

The May '83 graduates were the last to receive diplomas from Bloomsburg State College. This ending was not due to closing, but rather, to growth. BSC had outgrown the limits of a college and on July 1 the official name became Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania. This change was a result of more than an act of legislation. It is the herald for a new era of development and expansion. What began as a private school, the vision of one man, has survived historic changes and challenges, and has grown.

marked the establishment of the Bloomsburg Academy by C.P. Waller. The "classical school" located at Third and Jefferson streets, was established to teach the theories of academic achievement to its classes. While the Academy was striving to achieve academic excellence, Louis Daguerre revealed his photographic process to a young, ambitious American in Paris. Upon returning to the U.S., he shared his knowledge of capturing memories. Memories of families, friends, events, as well as memories experienced at the Academy would now be preserved not only in hearts, but on film.

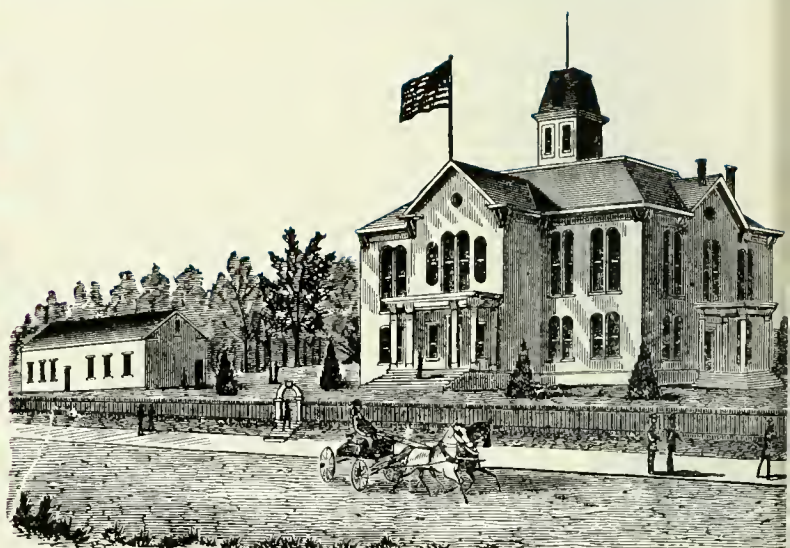

Henry Carver, Principal, Bloomsburg Literary Institute, 1866-1871.

1856 saw the Bloomsburg townspeople join together to secure a charter of incorporation. The Academy was reorganized and named the Bloomsburg Literary Institute. In the meantime, John Brown's abolitionists began their fight against slavery in Kansas. A fight which grew into the Civil War. As North and South began their struggle, BLI was also struggling, but showing great promise and continued growth.

1869 was the year that the Institute was recognized as the Bloomsburg Literary Institute and State Normal School for the Sixth District. It also marked the opening of Institute Hall, now called Carver Hall. As students and faculty were celebrating the formation of the State Normal School, a gold spike was being driven into the final section of track in Promotory, Utah to commemorate the completion of the Transcontinental Railroad. America was growing and so was the school.

Institute (Carver) Hall and Dormitory

1916 was a year of great strides. The Literary Institute was purchased by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for $10,000 and was renamed the Bloomsburg State Normal School. On campus student accommodations were expanded: lockers for visiting athletic teams were hung in the gymnasium; wash and iron rooms were installed in the girls' dorms; and bathroom facilities were added. However, to cover the expense of these additional "luxuries," student boarding fees were increased by 50 cents a week. Also during this year, the graduating class decided to create a book which would be "... a collection of passing remarks said by the way ..." loosely translated into Latin, Dictum Obiter. Thus, the Obiter was born.

Elsewhere, Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm was advancing on bordering nations, shortening the number of peaceful days remaining for the U.S. As America strengthened her forces in anticipation of fighting in WWI, the Normal School also strengthened her facilities.

1927 found the concentration on teaching education skills so rewarding that the Normal School was upgraded to the State Teachers' College at Bloomsburg.

The next 25 years saw additional degree programs in several areas; business education, special education, civil aeronautics, science, engineering, drafting, naval flight instruction, driver education, public school nursing, and dental hygiene. While Bloomsburg was expanding educational horizons, Charles Lindbergh was exploring new horizons of aviation. He completed the first non-stop flight from New York to Paris, making aviation history. Charles Lindbergh had soared to new heights and Bloomsburg was attaining heightened goals.

1960 brought growth in courses, departments, and faculty as well as the birth of a new name; Bloomsburg State College. The degree programs were expanded to include not only teacher education, but also liberal arts, business, and graduate studies and research. Later, continuing education and public services, and human services — health courses were added to the curriculum. As Bloomsburg grew in status and popularity so did Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy through the historical presidential debates. Kennedy won the election by the narrowest margin on record and BSC continued her steady stride toward her goals.

Bloom students are not educated by just attending class, studying and taking tests. They grow by living . . . understanding their peers, experiencing the changing environment and taking part in an active society. Student life is the time when students experience each other — both good and bad — furthering their education.

Students go through each day walking the same paths, talking to the same people, doing the same kind of work, expecting continued results. Occasionally surprises occur. And when those timely events happen, students know how to respond. Most students survive the loss of their Community Activities sticker . . . their roommates crises . . . the unaccessibility of a computer terminal . . . term papers . . . the withdrawal of a course, finding out they barely have enough credits to graduate . . . long lines . . . missing the bus to the Fieldhouse . . . the Commons food . . . paying a $2 fine for not parking in the hospital lot . . . parties . . . and the following morning.

On the next few pages the Obiter will try to show where the activity is and how the BSC student takes advantage of the facilities. Everyone has the opportunity to increase their awareness by sharing the college experience. This experience is the key to continued growth.

Activity Center

Kehr Union

Appropriately located in the center of campus is the Kehr Union Building. It is here that everyone — students, professors, and employees — gathers to discuss the latest happenings and arrange future plans. Some of the future events just may include an exam or two, so many students find the Presidents' Lounge, Coffeehouse, and Snack Bar excellent places to study. Still others go to the Union to get away from studying. They seek the refuge of the Games' Room, TV lounges, or bowling alleys. Some find relaxation just looking at one of the many exhibits found in the Union. And still others look in the Union for vital services. The information desk stands ready to serve — ready to give answers, phone numbers, newspapers and magazines, playing cards, and racquetball court reservations. If you're not ready to serve try going a few more steps to the student health center. What, you say you can't afford to be sick? Visit the student bank, despite the long lines it was a welcomed convenience. But if you prefer to get away from it all try the Ride Board, Kehr Union Travel Agency, Quest, or get lost in the activities of an organization — even if their office doesn't happen to be in the Union you can bet their meeting probably will be. It doesn't matter when you're in the Union, rest assured that you will find an atmosphere that fits your needs. The KUB is definitely the activity center for the campus.

Supply Center

College Store

If you want to sell your old books, buy a new Bloomsburg University sweatshirt, or simply browse through the magazine racks, the College Store is the place to go. Of course, the Store is busiest the first few weeks of the semester — the aisles teeming with people purchasing textbooks, notebooks, and other supplies eagerly anticipating the months ahead.

Texts are not the only merchandise handled. The small grocery section, the Survival Center, is stocked full of basic necessities for hungry studiers, while a wide selection of plaques, posters and novelties can be purchased to enhance any dreary dorm room. The Store also carries paperbacks, magazines, newspapers and a wide variety of greeting cards.

This year the College Store did many students a great service by drastically reducing the prices on BSC clothing. This made it possible for many students to become collectors of a never to be repeated clothes line — the BSC apparel. It also allowed the Store to make room for the newest fashions — the BU line.

Workhouse Andruss Library

The stained glass windows adorning the outside of Andruss Library symbolize the quiet found inside where students are diligently working. Many are gathered around the large tables, notebooks opened wide, desperately trying to decipher their notes from the class they all slept through. Others can be found upstairs deeply concentrating in one of the individual study cubicles.

Books, periodicals, and journals line the shelves, easily accessible to any student. The newspaper room is amply stocked with news from around the world and pamphlets are available with information on just about any subject. Still more material can be found on microforms and for your listening pleasure, a large selection of albums.

But Andruss Library is not just a building of books, it is people. The warm and friendly faces in Reader Services invite questions from confused researchers. The folks at the Reserve Desk are more than happy to tell you it's only good for an hour, but it can be copied for a nickel a page. And those in circulation are delighted to "check you out."

Many plans for the upcoming weekend are made in Andruss — but, of course, that only happens during study breaks.

Making Friends

Residence Halls

Picture a 20' X 15' room filled with posters, pillows, a stereo, a cube refrigerator, plants, and all of your most valued possessions and you have a typical dorm room.

Bloom's "homes away from home" permit each individual their own space and yet allow for a sense of community with fellow residents. This often creates many challenging experiences for the individual. Dorms participate in homecoming events, mixers, date parties, T-shirt contests, and intramurals. The atmosphere encourages residents to get involved and make friends; even fire drills at 1:30 a.m. can be fun!

Going to wing meetings, making popcorn in the halls, carrying your shower bucket, paying your phone bill on time, signing in guests, blasting your stereo, laughing with friends, getting noise violations — it's all part of the great experience called dorm life!

Scranton Commons

When finances are dwindling and the stomach's grumblings are becoming deafening, where does the BSC student turn? The Commons. Most days everyone can find something to suit their taste, be it soup, salad, a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, the ever popular oreo cookie ice cream, or the dreaded recurring roast beef.

In spite of long lines, crowded tables, and the fickle computer system, the Commons seems to be a favorite spot for socializing and relaxing with friends after a long day of classes. Music from WBSC or a Philly station provides a relaxing backdrop to the horror stories of the day, while at breakfast it serves to wake those students devoted enough to stumble in before their 8 a.m. classes.

The food service, Servomation, does try to make cafeteria dining a pleasant experience. Theme meals such as Fast Food night, a candlelit Pasta night, or the Thanksgiving family style dinner featuring table service are a welcome change from the ordinary. Thanks to 'Tony the Baker', desserts have proven to be the most enticing portion of the meal. But no matter how far from home cooking the food may be — at least they don't make you wash the dishes; but, then again, maybe you could get the peanut butter out of those bowls.

Recreation

Everyone needs to set the books down, get outside and enjoy the fresh air — and BSC students are no exception! In fact, Bloom has a wide variety of activities begging a student to blow-off an hour or two. As spring rolls around, more students can be found enjoying the wide open spaces rather than the musty halls of Andruss. Most guys can be found on the football fields between North and Columbia or Montour and Schuylkill. If volleyball or basketball is the sport, then the recreation area between Navy and Ben Franklin is the place. Frisbee flyers abound filling any available narrow tract of land. And, of course, there are intramurals ranging from softball to street hockey, for those who prefer the expertise of a referee.

Support System

The Town of Bloomsburg

Aren't you hungry?

Grab your hat and coat we're going out to eat tonight. But, should we go out to Route 11 or just downtown? Let's try Main Street, we'll get there faster. But, are we hungry for hoagies, cheesesteaks, pizza, or something exquisitely elegant? Whatever the answer, downtown Bloomsburg has them all; Berrigan's, Laubach's, Luigi's, Sal's, Two Boys. Or for that special night out try the smorgasbord at the Hotel Magee or a quiet dinner for two downstairs in the Publick House.

From R.A.'s to Landlord

Most college students anxiously await that time when they can be on their own, living off-campus, away from the watchful eye of the R.A. and the restrictions of on-campus life.

Face it, the food you make has to be better than the meals in the Commons; you have more than a cubicle to call home; and you can have friends over whenever you like, for whatever you like. But then there's the problem of lugging your laundry uphill!

Whether you lived on Sesame Street or Lightstreet, at Maroon and Gold or the Bungalow, or chose the experience of a fraternity or sorority house, you have been part of that unique growing experience many have undergone and no one can forget.

Just as the physical structure of the BSC campus has expanded from two buildings, housing the Literary Institute, to over 40, so has the school's academic programs. While the Academy was one man's dream, it grew into an administration and faculty of hundreds. This planning and nurturing affords BSC with the ability to attract some of the finest professors in the country. Their high standards of developing mind and body have contributed to BSC's longevity and strength. Bloomsburg not only provides the student with a chance to pursue his or her interest, but faculty can also receive funds through grants to do further study and advance knowledge. Workshops are held periodically for students and instructors to exchange ideas. Students are also active on various academic committees allowing suggestions on changing courses, and requirements.

The academic sector of BSC is closely woven between the faculty, administration, and students. This openness has given Bloomsburg State College the basis for growth and the opportunity to continue.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

To the Class of 1983:

Congratulations! The faculty, staff, and trustees of the college join me in extending best wishes to all members of the Class of 1983. We are proud of your achievements and pleased to have been a part of your undergraduate education at Bloomsburg.

Although your graduation signals the end of your undergraduate program, it also marks a new beginning. Your new relationship as a graduate and a member of the Bloomsburg State College Alumni Association is one that will continue throughout your life and is a very important factor in the continuing health and vitality of the college.

We sincerely hope that you will maintain your ties with the college, will visit us often, and will share with others the positive experiences that you enjoyed as a member of the Bloomsburg State College community. Our ability to progress and respond to changing needs will depend upon your continuing interest and support.

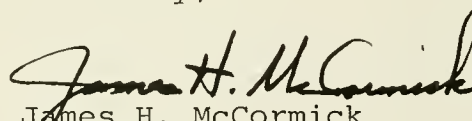

Your participation in the activities of the Alumni Association will help us to provide an even more effective and satisfactory educational experience for the men and women who follow you.

This is also a time for you to acknowledge the support and encouragement you have received from your families and friends. Your achievements, while largely the result of your work and personal commitment, were aided by the sacrifices of people who care about you and who want you to succeed.

I hope that, as you undertake new careers, continue your education, and move forward with personal plans, you will feel that your experience at Bloomsburg was a positive one.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

James H. McCormick

John Walker Strives for University Excellence

John Walker, director of institutional advancement, has the highest aspirations for the future, that Bloomsburg University will attain even greater levels of excellence in education. Since coming to Bloomsburg, 17 years ago, Walker has witnessed numerous changes including new academic programs, additional campus buildings, and an increase in the number of students and faculty. His first position at Bloomsburg was admissions director in 1965. Over the years, he has also served as assistant to the vice president of student life and executive assistant to the president. Mr. Walker has held the newly created position of director of institutional advancement for one year.

He acts as supervisor for the offices of alumni affairs, college relations, affirmative action, and institutional research. His primary duties encompass the directing of legislative relations with local, state, and federal levels of government to advance the interests of the college. Some of his other important functions include serving on the Council of Vice Presidents, working with the president and vice presidents on internal budget allocations, acting as chief advisor to the president on development, and acting as spokesman for the college on matters concerning the general public.

According to Walker, Bloomsburg will now be seeking funds from corporations and other private business. In the past, this was not done, because many people believed that state colleges already received adequate support through taxes. However, now, more than ever, both state and federal governments do not have as much money to offer. The director of institutional advancement believes that the 26,000 alumni of Bloomsburg, scattered throughout the country and even the world, will continue to support and help maintain the college.

At Bloomsburg University, Walker does not foresee any immediate changes for students, however, the university system has been quite successful in other states and will eliminate a layer of bureaucracy in Pennsylvania state government. He believes that there may be some problems in the beginning, but eventually the changeover will be extremely beneficial to Bloomsburg University, as she will have more control over her own destiny.

In the near future, Walker hopes to see the completion of the Health and Human Services building, a possible student apartment complex on the upper campus utilizing passive solar power, and the continued renovations of buildings on campus. As an overall scenario he believes that Bloomsburg is in a fantastic position to be strong in the future because the college already has so many positive attributes; good fiscal management, an excellent location with easy access, and regionally diverse student body and faculty staff. Walker maintained that despite predicted declines in college enrollments, Bloomsburg University has the potential to soar to even greater dimensions of education in the 1980's and beyond.

Badami displays professionalism in communication

The first day of class for 50 Communication Theory students began in Hatline 86, a science mass-lecture hall with periodical charts on the walls and a lab table for a podium. The instructor entered and told the class, "My name is Mary Kenny Badami, and you may call me doctor."

Mary Kenny Badami, Ph.D., Assistant Professor in the Department of Communication Studies, began teaching classes at BSC in August, 1981. Dr. Badami was acquired from the University of Wisconsin and she reflects a myriad of learning and teaching from around the world.

Born and raised in the Bronx, she graduated from Fordham University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Speech Education. While there she was active with the school's outstanding debate team and was one of the first women to compete in the U.S. National Championship Debate in 1962. That same year she appeared as a member of the all-women debate team on the television show, "Championship Debate."

Badami began her teaching career at the Charles Evans Hughes High School in Manhattan, the school which inspired the award winning movie "Up the Down Staircase." Following the receipt of her master's degree from Hunter College in 1965, she taught at Newton High School in Elmhurst, N.Y.

After marrying an Army officer with the Advocate General's office she moved to Illinois. While living near Chicago, she appeared on the popular daytime game show "Jeopardy." The "young housewife from Fort Sheridan" was a four-day winner. When her husband was ordered to Germany in 1968, Badami moved her family to Munich. While her husband worked on the base, she taught English at the Air Traffic Control School. She also found time to host a weekly talk show on the Armed Forces Radio Network and lectured at the Munich campus of the University of Maryland.

Returning to the United States in 1973, Badami taught speech communications at the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, and later at the Memorial University in Newfoundland, Canada.

Between 1975 and 1977, Badami channelled her talents toward earning a doctorate degree, receiving her Ph.D. in communication studies from Northwestern University.

Dr. Badami has received many awards and honors and placed as a National Finalist in the White House Fellowship Competition, she was a panelist at the U.S. Information Agency Seminar on Intercultural Communication, and she received two research grants toward cultural and technological studies.

"My job satisfaction has been very high for a number of years," she said, "I enjoy taking something complicated and being able to explain it to others. I thrive on lecturing; it's exhausting and yet exhilarating, a balance of information and entertainment." Currently, she is teaching classes in public speaking, communication theory, intercultural communication, interpersonal communication, and organizational communication. In the future she hopes to see several new courses offered including one on science fiction and one on sexual roles in communication.

Outside of teaching she is an active public speaker on sexism and the role of women and is acting as a consultant for the National Parks Service where she teaches communication skills to forest rangers. Badami said, "Although other professional activities such as research, writing, publishing, and speaking to professional and community groups are important, they don't overshadow the expectation that we will be good teachers first. That is an ideal which I truly believe in."

Brasch, professional writer — journalist helps develop journalism courses

Walter M. Brasch, Ph.D., of the English department came to Bloomsburg less than three years ago, but has already been promoted to associate professor. Dr. Brasch, a professional writer-journalist, teaches classes in journalism and was instrumental in helping develop the journalism laboratory in Bakeless Center.

A confirmed Californian, Brasch came to Bloomsburg because he needed a place where he could devote himself to writing and teaching, but not isolate himself from the journalism profession.

"I had lived and worked in large, urban areas too long," he said, "and I needed to find a place where I could live and write the way I wanted to develop in other areas. I looked around for a small state college in a rural setting, and Bloomsburg seemed ideal."

His experience in the field of journalism and his credentials in formal education speak for themselves. A working journalist for more than 15 years, he has had experience as a reporter for several daily newspapers, was a sports editor, investigative reporter, correspondent, public affairs reporter, and city editor. He has worked as a writer/producer for a multimedia production company and for television and film companies. He was the editor-in-chief of SOMOS magazine, a publication for underprivileged youth, and directed his own publishing company. Brasch has written a syndicated newspaper column, and more than 250 magazine and journal articles. He has also authored four research books and a novel and is currently working on a second novel and two more books. He received six research grants in his academic career, two since coming to BSC, and won numerous writing awards. Among his most recent are being named "Outstanding Columnist of the Year" by the Press Club of Southern California in 1977; he was cited for "Best Education Writing of 1982" by the Pacific Coast Press Club; and was fifth in the national Writer's Digest non-fiction competition in 1981. In addition to journalism, he was an actor and musician in the '60's.

Dr. Brasch attended San Diego State College, graduating with an A.B. in sociology in 1966. He earned his master's degree in journalism from Ball State University in 1969, and was awarded his Ph.D. in mass communication/journalism from the Ohio University in 1974.

Before coming to Bloomsburg, he taught journalism at Temple University, and part-time at California State University and California State Polytechnical University.

At BSC, he requires his students to publish. "They don't believe they can be published at first," he said, "but all of them have an armful of bylined stories by the time they graduate." The students see their bylines not only in campus publications, but regional newspapers and magazines, as well as national publications.

Dr. Brasch is an activist, having participated in and written about the major social movements of the past two decades. "A journalist cannot — must not — stand on the sidelines and watch," he said, "but must be involved with society, with people."

What about today's students? Are they different from those in the '60's? "I'll match my best students at BSC to any in the country," he said proudly, "but I do notice that throughout the country now is a pattern of social apathy. When I look at a future journalist, I look for a spark in the eye, a basic writing ability that is probably innate, a love of life, a caring for people and their problems. Apathetic students don't belong in journalism, and I encourage them to look elsewhere for their profession. But, if they are sensitive to people, no matter how well or poorly they do in class, I'll go out of my way to work with them, to help them. A high G.P.A. doesn't cut it with me; a concerned human being with above average intelligence does."

Newspapers, journals, magazines, books, radio, television, literary awards — and a high respect from his students — have all proven that Walter M. Brasch, deserves the title of writer-journalist-professor.

Contributing to the BSC community usually means participation in at least one student organization. Bloomsburg offers to their students a wide selection of groups to choose from. The student activities office recognizes over 130 organizations including 12 fraternities, 10 sororities and 17 honor societies.

Joining an organization is fairly simple. Requirements vary yet an individual must have an interest in the group and determination to learn by exploring the area of concentration. To join a social fraternity or sorority a person needs to be accepted during rush and then go through the vigorous four to six weeks of pledging. Approximately 1,050 students are "greek" at BSC. However many students participate in other non-greek groups, which include the academic, cultural, social interest, governing bodies, political, communications, religious, and recreational organizations.

When the right group is found by that person, he or she is expected to understand and respect the point of view expressed by the people. The organization will teach new ideas in the group's area of concentration and additional instruction is obtainable.

But being an active member in extra-curricular activities enhances one's perception on life and enables a person to grow in mind.

ΦΣΞ

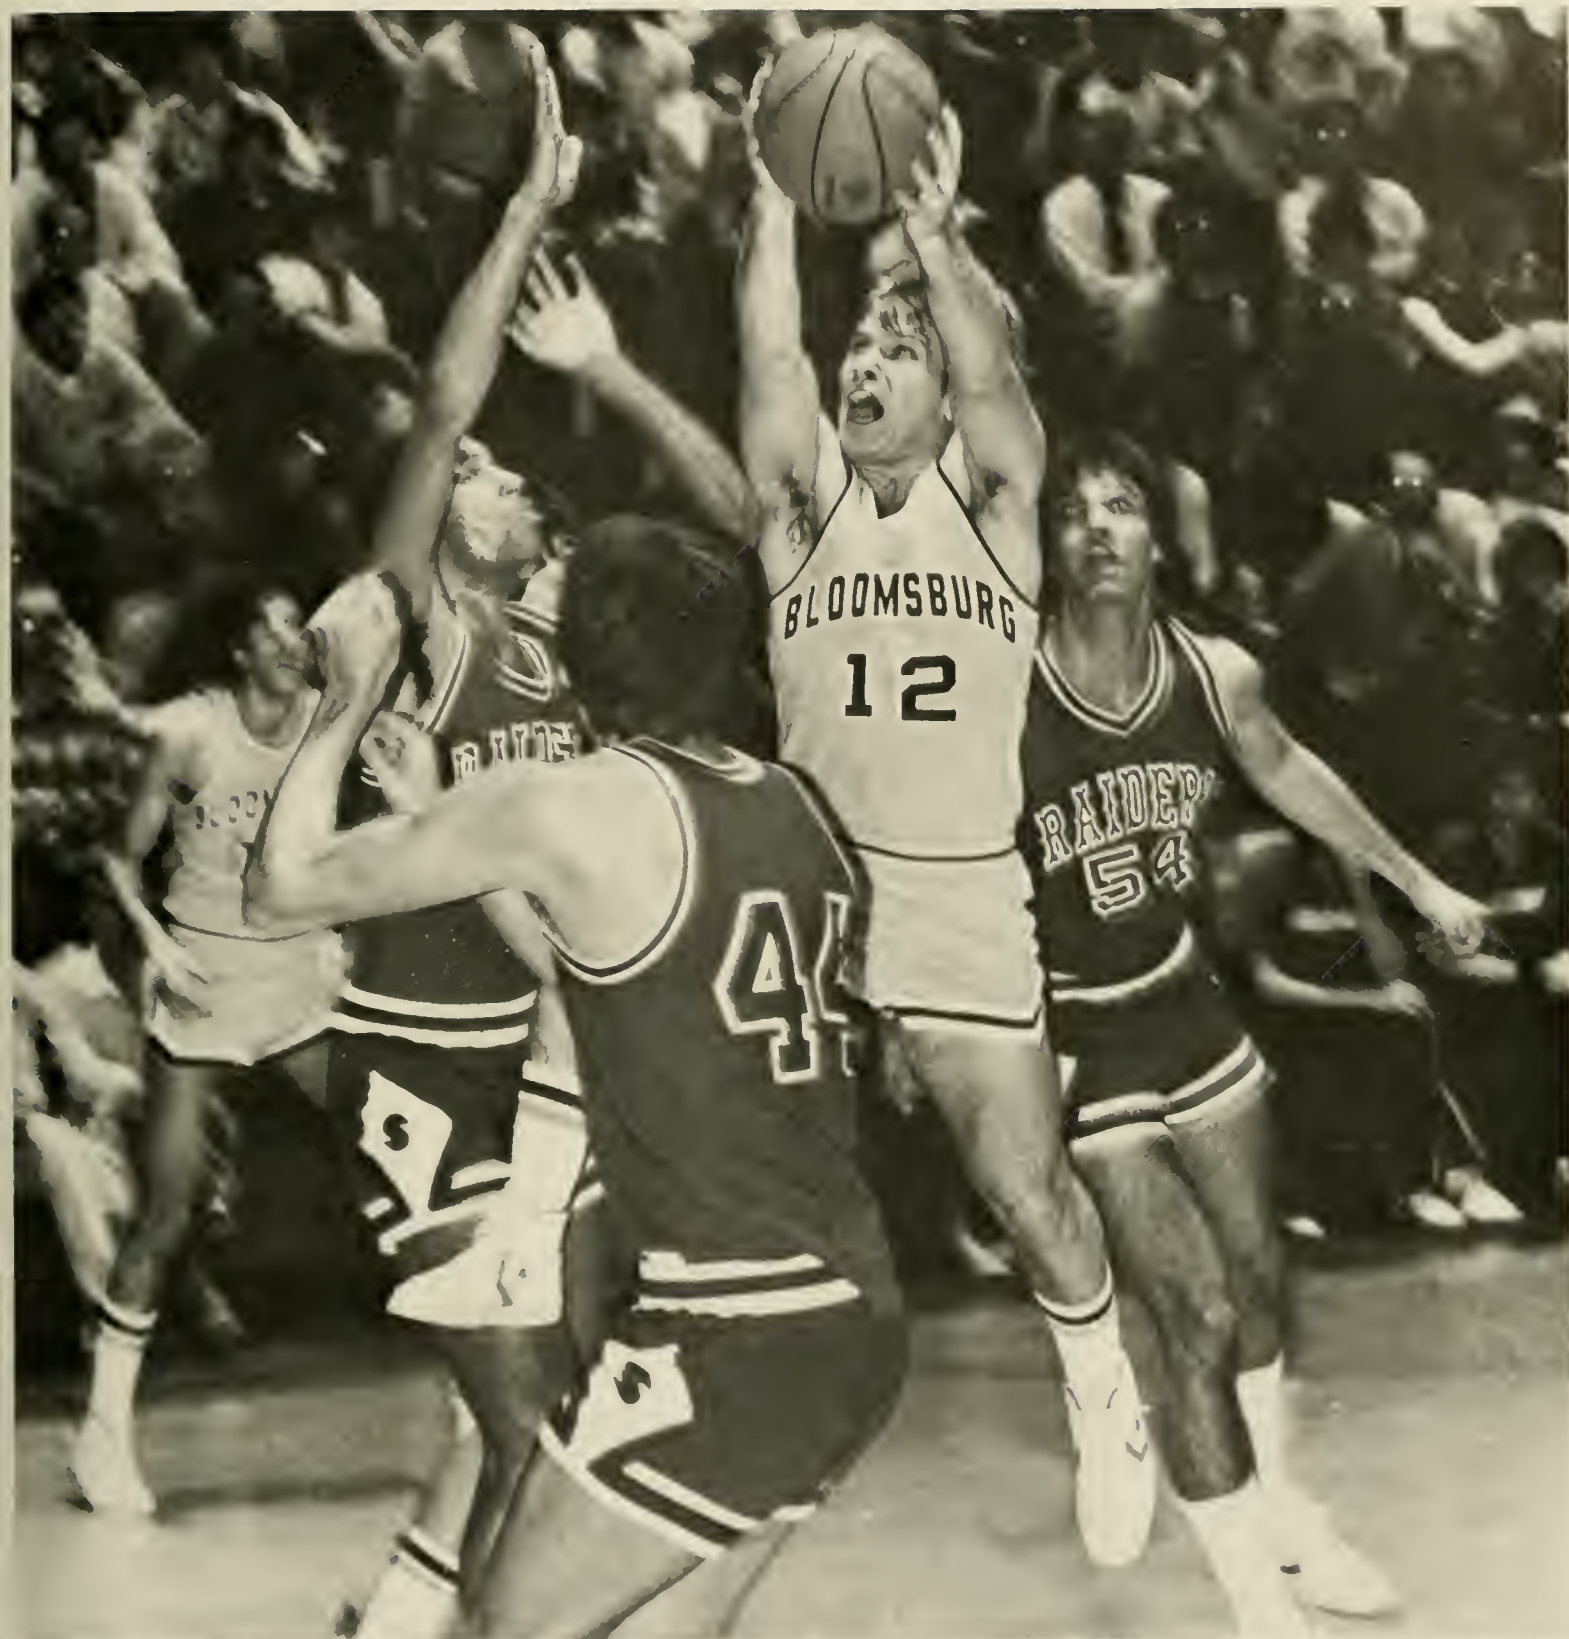

The 1982-83 season showed continued growth and improvement for Bloomsburg athletics. There were many up-setting wins and a few hard losses, as more than 500 student/athletes contributed in winning more games opposed to losses.

The surprise team this year was the Men's Basketball team posting a 23-10 record and winning the NCAA Division II East Regional. Coach Charles Chronister was named "BSC Coach of the Year," "Small College Basketball Coach of the Year" and "Eastern Basketball Magazine NCAA Division II Coach of the Year." Another surprise season was fashioned by the Field Hockey team advancing to the NCAA Division II finals. The lady Huskies, led by Coach Jan Hutchinson placed second in the country after losing to Lock Haven 4-1, and recorded 16 wins, five losses and one tie.

Under new coach George Landis, the Football team won their first game in two years. Landis, a former Penn Stater, improved Bloomsburg's defensive team and worked on the offensive ground game. Dr. Lou Mingrone, soccer coach since 1974 and Paul Slocum, head athletic trainer at BSC since October 1972 retired from their positions. Slocum accepted a position as Manager of the Sports Medicine Department of the NPW Medical Center, Naticoke, Pennsylvania.

With changes constantly occurring the Huskies will fare well. The Community Government Association approved the development of nine athletic fields to be added to the upper campus for athletics and intramurals. The future looks good for Bloomsburg athletics as a popular program boasts of its growth.

Gridders show Improvement under Landis

The BSC football team showed improvement in 1982 under first year head coach George Landis.

Defense proved to be a major part of this improvement as the Huskies gave up 25 points per game in 1982, as compared to 44 in 1981. The squad gave up 51 less first downs in 1982 and an astounding 1,065 yards less rushing. Freshman linebacker Frank Sheptock led this defense with 93 tackles, and he was named to the Pennsylvania Conference (PC) Eastern Division First Team. Second on the team in tackles with a total of 51 was sophomore Greg Stone.

The Husky defense held the opponents to 1,532 yards, 223 less than 1982 and made 13 interceptions, with freshman cornerback, Tony Woods making six. Woods was selected to the PC Second team and led the Huskies with 16 kickoff returns for 391 yards and a 24.4 yard average. Woods also gained 34 yards on five punt returns.

In offense, Bloomsburg showed the signs of a formidable ground game. Freshman tailback, Vernon Rochester, another PC Second team selection, rushed for 414 yards, including two 100+ yard games. Freshman Mike Connor rushed for 226 yards on 67 carries. As a team, Bloomsburg ran for 264 more yards in 1982 and an average of 38.2 more yards per game than a year ago.

The passing game was the only area where the Huskies did not show considerable improvement. This can be attributed to the loss of senior quarterback, Kurt Werkeiser and a better ground game.

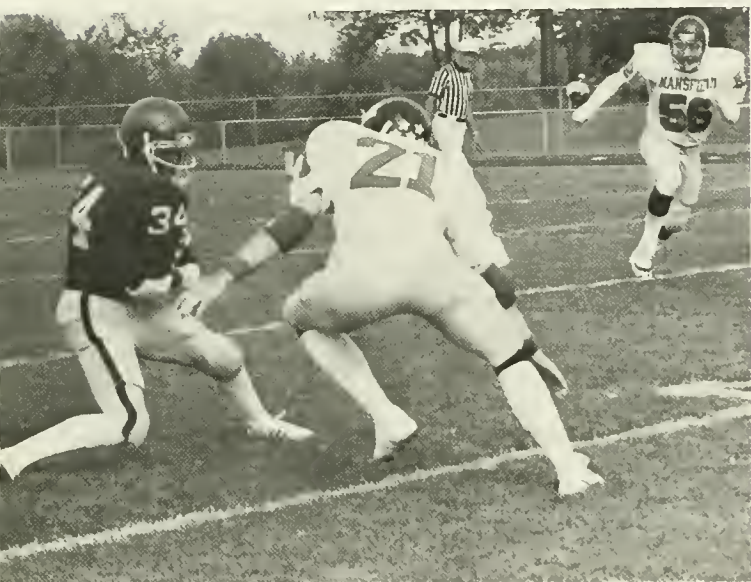

Sophomore split end Joe Dowd led the Huskies with 30 receptions for 431 yards. Senior tight end Mike Blake, the Eastern Division's only unanimous selection, was right behind Dowd with 29 receptions for 397 yards. Blake was also the first team NCAA Division II All-American. Freshman quarterback Dick Klingerman threw for 806 yards, completing 73 of 155 passes (47%) and five touchdowns.

Blake led the team in scoring with five touchdowns for 30 points. Kicker Rick Farris was distant second in scoring with three field goals and ten extra points for 19 total points.

Huskies Finish Second in Nation

The major obstacle between the Bloomsburg State College women's field hockey team and a truly superb season had to be the Lock Haven State College Bald Eagles. The Huskies finished the 1982 campaign with a 16-5-1 record with three of those losses to Lock Haven. Along with beating Bloomsburg in the NCAA Division II championship game, the Eagles defeated Bloomsburg during the regular season and in the Pennsylvania Conference final.

Offensively Bloomsburg was led by freshman midfielder Karen Hertzler who tallied 16 goals and five assists on the year. Senior captain Diane Imboden was second in scoring with nine goals and three assists. Junior Deb Long also had an outstanding year contributing six goals and five assists while controlling the midfield line for the Huskies. For the year, BSC tallied 55 goals.

Under the leadership of junior goalie Laurie Snyder, the Husky defense held their opponents to just 15 goals. Snyder made 49 saves and recorded 10 shutouts.

Snyder, Long, Hertzler, and senior Jeanne Fetch were named to the Mitchell-Ness Mideast Regional All-Star team. These athletes were chosen from a field of over 1,000 nominees for their outstanding performance in the 1982 season by the coaches of the U.S. Field Hockey Association.

Freshman leads Booters through Winning Season

The 1982 soccer team combined the talents of enthusiastic newcomers and skilled veterans to end the season with a 10-7 record.

Freshman Ricardo Lopes led the Huskies in scoring with 10 goals and finished third on the assist chart with a total of four. Senior Bill Sypawka was second in scoring and assists adding seven and five respectively. He had two two-goal games during the year.

The National Soccer Coaches' Association (NSCA) and the Pennsylvania Conference recognized three BSC players with post season honors. The NSCA named Lopes as the first team selection for forward and senior Roger Stetler as the second team back. Stetler was a four-time letter winner and co-captain of this year's squad.

Lopes was also chosen as an All-Pennsylvania Conference first team member while senior teammate Mike Keller received honorable mention. Keller made five of the Huskies' goals and assisted on six.

The Huskies had an up and down year seemingly not able to put together any major winning streaks.

Cross Country

Women Place Seventh in East Regionals

The women's cross country team proved to be both solid and consistent this season, finishing with a 5-2 record. Coach Richard Daymont can be proud of his team whose strength seemed to lie in their effective pack style running. Juniors Lori Pingitore and Vicky Amici paced the Husky team with senior Terri Purcell and freshman Karen Hensle hot on their heels. The team finished with an impressive fourth place in the PSAC meet and seventh in the NCAA East Regionals.

Greene and Maynard Lead Men thru Tough Season

The men's cross country team, lead by senior co-captains Mike Greene and Lou Maynard, are mostly composed of underclassmen. A win over Allentown College helped to boost the record, while East Stroudsburg and Shippensburg proved to be their toughest opponents. With the 1982-83 season behind and the graduation of only two senior members, the team anticipates a more rewarding and triumphant 83-84 season.

Young Wrestlers Finish Second in Pa. Conference

Although the wrestling team fashioned a 6-7 record, there were many bright spots on BSC's young wrestling team. Highlights included winning the West Chester Invitational title and a surprising second place finish in the Pa. Conference Championships. Senior heavy-weight Joe Wade was the lone BSC wrestler to capture an individual crown at the conference championships. Sophomore Tom Gibble and senior captain Todd Cummings joined Wade at the national tourney at Oklahoma City. Coach Roger Sanders is anticipating BSC's return to a contenders role in the Eastern Wrestling League next season.

Men's Basketball

BSC tops Cheyney, Textile for NCAA East Regional Title

The 1982-83 basketball season proved to be one of the best in the long outstanding tradition of BSC basketball, and was the school's 17th consecutive winning season. Upsetting Textile in the NCAA Division II East Regionals, the Huskies fashioned a 19-8 regular season record and 23-10 overall. Season highlights included Husky victories over West Chester State and perennial rival Cheyney State. The Huskies advanced as far as the Division II Quarterfinals before losing to Wright (OH) State, who eventually captured the national title. The BSC basketball team was lead by senior Terry Conrad, junior Barry Francisco, and freshman standout Glenn Noack. Conrad and Francisco were named to the Eastern Division All-Star Second Team. Noack was named ECAC Co-Rookie of the Year, while coach Charlie Chronister was named Pennsylvania Conference Coach of the Year. This was not a bad season for a team that no other Pennsylvania conference Eastern Division Coach picked to finish higher than fifth among the eight division teams.

Women's Basketball

Millen, Runyon, Brosky set Basketball records

Although the women's basketball team finished with an 8-13 overall record and a 4-7 conference mark, many new personal records were established in the 1982-83 season. Freshman forward Jean Millen had a sensational season. She set new season team records for points (304), rebounds (262) and led the team with a 14.5 points per game average. Against Shippensburg, Millen set a new single game scoring record when she fired in 34 points. Senior center Hilarie Runyon finished her college career by establishing career records for most points (794) and most rebounds (723). Junior guard Pam Brosky will have another year to add to her school record career assist total as it currently stands at 161. Head coach Sue Hibbs is optimistic about the 1983-84 season as the Huskies will lose only four members of the squad.

Men's Swimming

Swimmers Post Winning Season

For the first time in eight years, coach Eli McLaughlin's men's swimming team had back-to-back winning seasons.

Led by senior captain Phil Spampinato, the Huskies finished their season with a 7-5 record and an eighth place finish in the PSAC Championships. They also captured the team championship in their own invitational relays. Other outstanding performers were juniors Matt Thrain and Phil Christian, along with freshman Ken Chaney, Bryan Quibell, Brian Fetzer, and Mike Hagginsbotham. With 15 of the 16 swimmers returning, next year's team should be very successful.

Huskies win Fifth Consecutive Title

Once again coach Burt Reese's Tennis Team rolled to a successful season. The team, proved that the Huskies are supreme in the State Conference by authoritatively winning an unprecedented fifth conference crown. Coach Reese reached a personal milestone by coaching the tennis teams to over 200 victories. All-Americans Dave Superdock and Marty Coyne set numerous records. Coyne recorded more career wins than anyone in BSC history (110) and captured eight conference titles (out of a possible 8). Superdock holds the record for consecutive wins (18) and has the honor of being the only player never to lose a match to a conference player while also recording over 100 career wins. The future looks optimistic for the Huskies. Six out of eight players will return next year.

The Year in Sports

PA CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

Bloomsburg is not all fraternity parties and lost football games. Many culturally enriching performances and events capture the college community. This past year Community Arts Council audiences were awed by the Northeastern Pennsylvania Philharmonic, Philadanco and Mummenschanz, covering interests in music, dance and mime.

For lighter entertainment students enjoyed the popular comedy cabarets, coffee-houses and concerts . . . concerts featuring Warren Zevon, America, The Phil Garland Band and The A's. Annually the Bloomsburg Fair is a large event for the area and the BSC students enjoy the nightly entertainment, rides, exhibits and food. Homecoming, the Dance Marathon, and Renaissance Jamboree are among the largest campus events anticipated each year by hundreds of students and townspeople.

BSC provides many opportunities for the college community and townspeople to see good entertainment at reasonable costs. The students and community realize the vast importance of special events and the support continues to grow.

Comedy is Popular

The Kehr Union Program Board sponsored a variety of comedians and humor in 1982. Stories of monster movies, "druggies and drunks," nerds on the beach, substitute teachers, and robberies in mini-markets were only a few of the tales which had the crowd roaring. The comedians have become a popular event and always receive a large turnout.

Fair Attracts Record Crowd

The 1982 Bloomsburg Fair held attractions for many people. The fair especially afforded BSC students with an opportunity to experience Bloomsburg at its liveliest.

The food stands were a favorite stop for all. Hot sausage, funnel cakes, and fried dough were only a few of the things which became the staples of many a student diet, and contributed to a slight tip in the scales!

If it was the entertainment that attracted you, a variety of stars were sure to please: Louise Mandrell, Englebert Humperdinck, and the Dirt Band. Still not satisfied? Midg-et Auto Races, Demolition Derby, Harness Racing, and a Rodeo capped the main events.

If thrills and chills were what you sought, the Paratrooper, the Pirate, and the Rhat Batan provided plenty. On the quieter side, exhibits could be viewed in the Agricultural, Horticultural, and Arts and Crafts buildings.

Whether students were entering BSC as freshmen or returning after semesters, the Bloomsburg Fair is an event that is greatly looked forward to. The fair is advertised as: "a glimpse of yesterday, a look at today, and a dream for tomorrow." It sure fills the bill!

Wide World of Sports visits Bloom

BSC kicked off its 55th Annual Homecoming celebration on Wednesday, October 13. The rock group .38 Special performed to a sell out crowd in Nelson Fieldhouse. Then on Thursday night National Lampoon's "Animal House" was shown to a rowdy BSC audience, dressed in a variety of outfits, including the popular togas, to view the movie. The traditional Pep Rally was held Friday night. Though dampened by rain, the fireworks still highlighted the evening. Barbara Winburn was announced as the Freshman Sweetheart.

On Saturday morning, Columbia Hall took first place in dorm decorating, followed by Northumberland and Lycoming.

On a cold and windy Saturday the Maroon and Gold Band led the Homecoming Parade, followed by numerous floats and various high school bands and the Alumni band. The first place float winner was Sigma Iota Omega-Omega Theta Tau. Lambda Chi Alpha-Chi Sigma Rho and Commuters Association-Program Board took second and third place respectively.

Carol Perlinsky, representing Lambda Chi Alpha, was crowned Homecoming Sweetheart during half-time ceremonies of the BSC-Millersville football game. Also, alumnus Bob Tucker was inducted into the BSC Hall of Fame, and his jersey was retired. The Huskies lost to the Marauders 14 to 24, an impressive showing.

Rounding out Homecoming weekend was a joint performance by the colleges' Women's Choral Ensemble, Husky Singers, and Concert Choir, presenting a concert of popular music Sunday evening.

A Christmas Tableau

The Madrigal Singers Victorian Christmas Banquet was held December 8, 9, 10, and 11 in the Scranton Commons. The group performed Dr. Wendy Miller's original concept and script to a sold-out audience. Dr. Miller was aided in selecting the menu by Maryan McCormick.

Kerry Boll was choreographer for the performance. Several faculty played roles in the living tableau. The combination of music, food and dance came together in a delightful and entertaining Christmas setting.

Harlem Globetrotters

BSC was given a special study break December 10 in Nelson Fieldhouse. The Harlem Globetrotters, America's team, and the magicians of basketball brought their special brand of humor to Bloomsburg. The team has been touring since 1927 and has played more than 15,000 games. The traditional red, white, and blue uniforms dazzled the crowd with their basketball skills and they brought roars of laughter from the audience.

The Kehr Union Program Board sponsored another successful dance marathon February 11. About 200 persons, mostly BSC and Bloomsburg High School students, took part in the 50-hour marathon in Centennial Gym. A 12 hour mini-marathon was also held on Saturday.

A number of local bands provided much of the music for the weekend, and WBSC filled the hours between the groups.

As the marathon drew to a close, a capacity crowd cheered the final 60 participants and hundreds of balloons filled Centennial.

This year's marathon benefited the Hospice Program of Columbia-Montour Home Health Services and netted $12,000.

Coffeehouses

Good music and a time to relax

Coffeehouses — one of the best ways on campus to relieve tensions, enjoy a few laughs, hear some good music, and just "plain kick back and relax." These are some of the things that make a coffeehouse performance popular on campus. These shows precipitate an informal atmosphere that adds to the enjoyment of the performers. The 1982-83 year has brought some old favorites, as well as some new faces to the coffeehouse circuit. Suzanne Vega, Linda Black, Sadie Green Sales, Bob Warren Band, Jim Lyman, Mark Rust are a few of those who have performed here this year. Music ranging from folk, jazz, versions of new wave, easy listening and pop cover enough to please BSC music lovers.

BSC's Image Signs Songs

IMAGE is a sign language music interpretation group composed of 12 BSC students. They combine dance, mime, and drama with sign language while providing quality, humorous and meaningful entertainment. Under the direction of Dr. G. Donald Miller, IMAGE held college performances in October and March. This year the popular songs interpreted included the Stray Cat Strut, Time Warp, I Got You Babe, and Whip It covering a wide variety of musical tastes. Large crowds attended the groups' performances and once again proved the popularity and appeal of IMAGE.

Comedy Cabaret

Scarpatti Comedy productions succeeded again this spring in bringing high energy entertainment to campus. Several comedians took over the Multi-purpose room in the KUB April 24, and provided some "off the wall" antics for students. Aside from imitations, one-liners, and various role-playing they even put in some caustic criticisms of BSC's own Campus Voice. But all in all the audience enjoyed the night and the humor.

Outdoor Concert Attracts Crowd before Finals

Campus went wild on May 6 as the Phil Garland Band and The A's, from Philadelphia, performed in an outdoor concert on Schuylkill lawn. Many students took advantage of the warm weather, spread blankets and lawn chairs, "caught some rays," and enjoyed the concert. Some danced yet others laid back and relaxed. The performance helped many students to release their tensions before final exams.

Jello Wrestling is Feature at Jamboree '83

The sixth Annual Renaissance Jamboree held Saturday, April 30, attracted crowds of people to Bloomsburg's Main Street. The spring festival, cosponsored by BSC and the Town of Bloomsburg, had many stands lining the downtown business district. Hamburgers, hot dogs, funnel cakes, pita sandwiches, ice cream, baked goods, soft pretzels, and assorted foods were sampled. There were also craft tables displaying the talents of local craftsmen. The Jamboree also provided entertainment throughout the day at two locations. The Bloomsburg Theatre Ensemble performed Zanies, the Skipback Cindies clogged to the sounds of the Cole Train country-music band, Sadie Green Sales was a big hit with their knee slappin' music craziness. A group of 15 BSC students presented a gymnastics routine, the local pop band Thunder and Lightning made their festival debut, but the highlight of the day was the First Annual Jello Wrestling Tournament. Groups of three took on competitors in a 12 foot square arena filled with colorful gelatin. The '83 Jamboree was a unique event attended just "for the fun of it."

Senior — the upperclassman, the know it all, usually plagued with senioritis nine months before graduation.

Graduation — a time to celebrate, party, say good-bye to friends, look towards the future, and a time for reflection.

Seniors, do you remember being a freshman and, having to ask for directions? Remember that first football game? that first win? the end of the semester and those traumatic finals? The summers passed quickly, each fall you returned wiser than before. Decisions came more easily; what classes should I take? What prof should I forget? Do I need to take swimming now or later? Will I study or should I first "stop" at Hess's? All of this, and much more, contributed to your education at BSC. An education that provides the basis for your future growth.

Graduates, you can never forget what you went through to reach this point in life. It took some graduates just two years to complete college, others four years, and still some need six or more years to graduate. However, the all-important fact is that you have received a diploma from Bloomsburg State College. Now, face the "real world" and take with you the many memories and experiences to cherish as you continue to grow.

OBITER

But the restlessness was handed down, and it's getting very hard to stay.

Better think a while
Or I may never think again.
If this were the last day of your life, my friend
Tell me, what you think you would do then?

Stand up to the blow that fate has struck upon you,
Make the most of all you still have coming to you, or
Lay down on the ground and let the tears run from you.
Crying to the grass and trees and heaven finally on your knees.

Let me live again, let life come find me wanting.
Spring must strike again against the shield of winter.
Let me feel once more the arms of love surround me Telling me the danger's past, I need not fear the icy blast again.

Undertow

Bloomsburg State College

Commencement Convocation

Bloomsburg Fairgrounds

Sunday, May 15, 1983

2:00 p.m.

Principal Speaker: Harry T. Edwards

Circuit Judge

District of Columbia

All good things must come to an end. And another year has come to a close. Like other years, students were confronted with good news and some problems. Many students were annoyed with the NFL players strike, leaving them with "nothing to do" on Sunday afternoons and Monday nights. Many consumers were alarmed when it was found that someone had tampered with Tylenol Capsules and caused several deaths. This occurrence had federal government officials reacting quickly and all pharmaceutical companies were ordered to put extra protective seals on their products.

On campus, students were concerned about the legality and fairness of the Solomon Amendment. Fortunately for the men the amendment was overturned. It was announced this year that all state colleges in Pennsylvania would become Universities as of July 1. Along with the name change Bloomsburg broke ground for its largest instructional building. With the construction of the Human Services Building, parking became a problem for commuters. Students continued to face computer shut-downs and scheduling conflicts. In April people in the area wondered about the weather — will it be cold, sunny, warm, rainy or snowing?

For all the problems previously mentioned students took varying degrees of interest and concern. But for each situation, no matter how they felt, it helped the student to grow accustomed to change and into a more responsive adult.

McCormick honored for leadership and commitment to public higher education

The new Human Services Center was named for President James H. McCormick at groundbreaking ceremonies held March 31.

In naming the $6.4 million classroom structure "The James H. McCormick Center for Human Services" Robert W. Buehner, Jr., chairperson of the board of trustees, said "There is no higher honor the college community can bestow upon an individual than to name a building in lasting honor of that individual. It is done on rare occasions and under unique circumstances after due and considerable deliberation."

"During his ten years at Bloomsburg, he has transformed and guided Bloomsburg State College to a position of a recognized leader in public higher education in the Commonwealth. He has made the pursuit of excellence a goal for all facets of the college community which has been achieved through his leadership in many areas."

"His commitment to, and his love of, students has made, and will continue to make, a significant difference in their lives at this college, which is soon to become a university."

McCormick, who came to Bloomsburg in 1973, had no previous knowledge the building would be named for him. In his welcoming remarks, he said "The project has been a cooperative effort for many years, and we are especially glad that so many of you who helped to make this building a reality can be here to share today with us."

"Although many individual efforts have made this possible through planning, we still have a number of steps from excavation to completion of the building. The culmination will be professors teaching in the facility and students learning and taking their knowledge out into society to improve the quality of life in Pennsylvania and the world through their work."

Walter Baran, Secretary of General Services for the Commonwealth, representing Governor Thornburgh pointed out that the structure will provide continuing educational advancement and enhancement

President James H. McCormick was elected interim chancellor of the Pennsylvania new State System of Higher Education effective July 1 by the system's board of governors on June 6.

J. Edwards Smith, chairman of the board's search committee, said that the appointment would be for approximately one year and that the board would immediately begin a nationwide search for the permanent chancellor.

"Dr. McCormick is highly respected by the members of our commonwealth higher education community for his vision, his sensitivity, and his administrative ability," Smith said. "We are extremely fortunate to have a person of his caliber carry out the responsibilities of the chancellorship during the critical first year of the system."

As interim chancellor, McCormick will be responsible for the administration of the new system and will serve as an ex-officio member of the council of each institution in the system.

"I have mixed emotions about this new assignment," McCormick said. "During my years at Bloomsburg, I have enjoyed fine support from campus, community, trustees, alumni, and state government and I look forward to returning to my duties on July 1, 1984. It has been exhilarating to work in an environment where so many people have been committed to making the college better, and I shall miss the daily contact with my friends, colleagues, and Bloomsburg's fine students."

"At the same time, I look forward to the challenge of giving leadership to the new State System. Hopefully, in this new assignment, I will be able to make a contribution to its early development. I have great confidence in the trustees, administration, faculty, and support personnel and I am certain that, as they work together during the coming year, Bloomsburg University will prosper."

Board of Trustees chairman Robert Buehner, Jr. responded to the election by stating that President McCormick has been for Bloomsburg and the state of Pennsylvania. State Treasurer R. Budd Dwyer, a former state legislator, noted that not too many groundbreakings for educational facilities are taking place today on campuses around the state or nation and this one will also provide needed employment and an influx of money in the area.

The Human Services Center will be a three-storied, brick-face facility of 81,000 square feet scheduled to be completed in June, 1984 and likely occupancy by the fall semester of 1984. It will be the largest instructional building on campus and will house laboratories, classrooms, conference rooms, and faculty offices to serve eight academic departments. Funding is provided by a Capital Budget Bill passed by the General Assembly and signed by Governor Thornburgh in late 1980.

Deaths

Professor Hilgar

BSC business professor Norman L. Hilgar, 59, died April 29, 1983 at 12:30 p.m. in the Bloomsburg Hospital where he had been a patient since March 22.

Hilgar was appointed to the BSC faculty in 1956. He was a professor of business administration, concentrating on accounting. He served as chairman of the Department of Business Administration from 1977 to 1980.

Hilgar was known as an authority in tax and accounting theory, and combined a small active tax practice with his other responsibilities.

All state colleges receive university status

Pennsylvania's 13 state-owned colleges officially became universities on July 1, 1983 under a new organization that separates the state system of higher education from the state Education Department. The 13 state colleges and Indiana University of Pennsylvania officially were placed under the independent jurisdiction of a chancellor of higher education and a 16-member board of governors.

The new system, created under a law signed by Governor Thornburgh in November, will mean greater autonomy for the schools, which will be allowed to make purchases and spend money without going through a maze of regulations and approvals in the department.

Interim Chancellor James H. McCormick will oversee the new system of universities along with a board of governors headed by Thornburgh appointee, Fitz Eugene Dixon Jr.

The schools affected are: California, Cheyney, Clarion, East Stroudsburg, Edinboro, Kutztown, Lock Haven, Mansfield, Millersville, Shippensburg, Slippery Rock, West Chester, along with Bloomsburg.

an outstanding president. "The Board considers Dr. McCormick to be an outstanding leader in public higher education, who possesses a vast knowledge of public higher education and is a wise choice to lead the State System of Higher Education in its initial year," he said.

The Chancellor and 16-member Board of Governors of the new System of Higher Education face a challenge that includes overseeing a budget of $400 million, 10,000 employees, and 75,000 students, as well as formulating policy for an entirely new system.

Larry W. Jones, vice president of academic affairs, was named acting president of the University by the board of trustees, while Dr. McCormick is on administrative leave for one year.

Computer disrupts fall scheduling

Time magazine proclaimed the computer as the "Machine of the Year," however for some BSC underclassmen the computer was more trouble than helpful. One week after fall schedule adjustments were made students were notified that "Procedural problems within the Computer Center resulted in the loss of data entered at the Kehr Union Coffeehouse during schedule adjustments on Thursday, April 21 and Friday, April 22, 1983."

After checking their preliminary schedules students came back to the Coffeehouse for new adjustments. This meant waiting in more lines hoping that the class that was scheduled the week before had an available seat.

The difficulty of finding a parking space on-campus intensified in March when ground was broken for the new Human Services Center. Over 100 spaces were lost as commuters searched for the few empty spaces. Additional parking was available in the Tri-level parking garage and the Bloomsburg Hospital lot, but these areas were farther from the classroom buildings and an inconvenience. Some students chose to park wherever they pleased and pay the $2 fine. Parking violators next year will pay more as fines increase to $5.

The 1983 Obiter has finally been completed after 10 months of meetings, brainstorming sessions, evaluations, phone calls, road trips to Gettysburg, decisions, work-nights, listening, agreeing, changing, talking, yelling, apologizing, discussing — forgiving. The time paid off and I think the staff did a "damn good job." An incredible amount of time and energy went into producing this yearbook and here's THANKS to:

Mary Beth and Monica — for pulling together at the last minute and doing a fine job.

Cathy McMEn and Tracy — The two of you did a good job. You were able to photograph more faculty members than ever before and yet you didn't let the "professional" and "secretarial" excuses (pardon the expression — bull!), faculty apathy, and "but I want to try something new this year," get you down, too often. Tracy, good luck at Temple.

Ruby and Sherri — Where do I start? I had complete confidence in both of you at first, then I worried . . . panicked . . . came near a nervous break down . . . but it all fell into place. Ruby, thanks for your summer work day. Sherri, please be good and protect yourself . . .

Greg, Kathy, Matt — "You can't blame me talk to Kevin or call Sports Information." You did a great job in rounding up the photos and getting more action shots on the pages. Greg and Kathy thanks for coming back, dedication to the max!

Claudia and Lynne — I think you both contributed a lot to improving the seniors' book. Lynne, there was always something happening and keeping me second guessing but you managed. Claudia, super work, thanks for all the extra time. You were fantastic. Congratulations to the both of you. I'll see ya at Hess's.

Pam — I'm sure you're tired of me saying, "You can do it, don't worry," but you did it and thanks for sticking it out again this year. You were great to work with and I enjoyed our talks — most of the time.

Kathy P. — You held down the fort when your partner fled and you gave me plenty to work with. Don't give up now, you'll do just fine.

Bill — You certainly came up with some great ideas. Thanks for getting all of the copy in on time. I hope Dr. Brasch wasn't too hard on you.

Leanne and Gail — I couldn't have done it without the two of you. I told you what I needed and it was done, maybe a little late . . . but it was nice work. Many thanks.

Dan — You're different but your photography is fantastic. I'm glad PR paid you for the many hours spent in the dark room.

Sandy — I often wondered how you and Kevin got along, but one thing is for sure . . . you're terrific. Best wishes, we'll miss you.

Kerry — Thanks for putting up with all my — —. You had an extremely big part in the production of the book. Special thanks! Don't forget to renew the service contract.

Kevin — At times you were so difficult, picky, forgetful, but so was I. Thanks for just doing the best job possible. You deserve more credit. I'm sorry we don't pay. CGA??

Mr. Hoffman — Thanks for allowing Kevin and myself freedom to make the decisions in order to produce a book that in our opinion is one of the best in Bloomsburg's history.

Merin Studios — Donna, Richie, Steve, Eddie, and Jeffrey. You all did an excellent job. I have to admit, I was a little concerned about the Senior deadline but your studio pulled it together. Congratulations. I'm looking forward to next year.

Mike and Barb Gilroy — Sorry for the last minute phone calls and trips to the plant. I believe all went fairly well again this year but one thing did bother the staff . . . you couldn't attend the picnic. Thanks for all of the extra help!

Alumni Association

Bloomsburg State College, Bloomsburg, PA 17815

Welcome to the largest branch of the Bloomsburg University family — the Alumni Association, with over 28,000 members in all 50 states and over 25 other countries.

You have completed your studies and embark on a career in an exciting time in the history of your Alma Mater. Some of you have been the last graduates of Bloomsburg State College; others are among the first graduates of Bloomsburg University. But now we are all alumni of Bloomsburg University.

I hope you will be an active, caring member of the Association. You can demonstrate that care in a number of ways: By encouraging family members and friends to attend Bloomsburg; by sharing your career experiences with the University Career Development Center; by reflecting the quality of education you received at Bloomsburg in your work; and by joining over 10,000 other alumni who have been contributing members of the Alumni Association.

I am proud of the many ways in which alumni contributions have made the University a better place. I would like to cite just two examples: During the past 10 years the Alumni Association has provided nearly $55,000 for scholarships (over $17,400 in 1983-1984) and nearly $14,000 since 1976 to improve and maintain the very attractive appearance of the campus. In addition, over $15,000 is spent annually for alumni publications to keep you informed about what's happening at the University and in the lives of your classmates. There are many other ways in which alumni have helped to provide "the margin of excellence."

I also draw your attention to an interesting publication, Profile of the Past, A Living Legacy, a history of the University from 1839 to 1979. I am sure that as a graduate, you will want to know as much as possible about the history of your Alma Mater. This book, written by an alumna and illustrated with many photographs, is very readable, and I recommend it highly.

I invite you to participate in alumni chapter meetings held in your area, and I hope you will return to Bloomsburg from time to time, especially for special occasions like Alumni Weekend in the spring and Homecoming in the fall.

Best wishes to you for success and happiness in your career and in your personal life.

Sincerely,

Douglas C. Hippenstiel
Director of Alumni Affairs

After July 1, 1983 we will be Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania
Alumni Weekend June 10-12 -- Homecoming Day October 22, 1983

Through war, depression, blizzard, flood, and political unrest, the school on the hill survived and grew.

As each new demand for greater knowledge was placed upon it by its students, the school responded. From the earliest academy, through normal school, teacher's college, and state college, Bloomsburg grew into a living tribute to its founding fathers.

1983 marks the end of an era for the school on the hill, and the culmination of careful, continuous growth. Ground was broken for the James H. McCormick Human Service Center in March and the upper campus will be the target of development in the future. Plans are being formulated for the expansion of on-campus housing with the addition of residence halls.

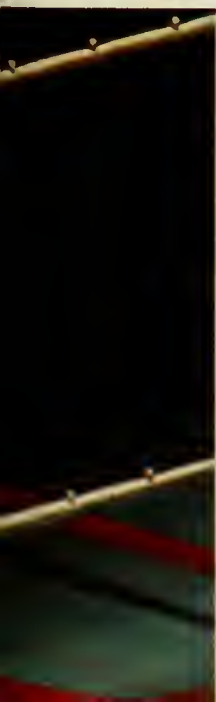

The little school on the hill has grown up. The University is a reality . . .

And in keeping with her past history of expansion and growth, Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania will continue to provide the most complete and comprehensive education possible to its students, and alumni. They can be rightfully proud of their accomplishments, and their alma mater. Bloomsburg will always maintain its high standards and deep-seeded traditions of honor, quality, and teaching excellence.

We, the last graduates of Bloomsburg State College bid a fond farewell to BSC, and a hearty welcome to Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania.
